“Summer is the best season of the year.” Write an argument for or against this statement – remember to be persuasive and argue your point of view!	Find 5 sources of light in your house or garden. Write down the five light sources and tell me whether they are natural light or artificial. Is it possibly a reflection?	Bake a cake or do some cooking with your grown up at home. Weigh out the correct ingredients accurately using some scales or measuring cups. Write out the ingredients for me to see and show me a picture of your finished bake!
Think about something that has changed in your life. Maybe you’ve moved house, had a new brother or sister or even moved schools. Write about how this change affected you – was it a good or bad change? What advice would you give to somebody else experiencing the same change?	Is it fair that cats can roam gardens alone whereas dogs have to be walked by a human? Tell me your thoughts.	Design your own t-shirt which you would love to be able to wear. If your grown up allows you to, decorate an old t-shirt using your design. We might be able to show them off at school! Don’t worry if you can’t create your design, you can just wear a really cool t-shirt instead!
