This year, the Queen Elizabeth II celebrates 70 years as queen. Imagine you are the queen. Write a diary entry for a day in her life. You could research the sort of things she gets up to day to day and use this to inform your writing. You might wish to write a diary entry for her coronation day. Think carefully about the tone of your writing and your vocabulary choices.	Design a drink that has a United Kingdom theme. This could be based on the United Kingdom's culture, the colours of the Union Jack or an area of the UK. Your measurements must be as follows. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Maximum quantity is 1L</li> <li>• Half of it has to be of one ingredient (eg apple juice)</li> <li>• 220ml should be of another ingredient</li> <li>• 25% should be of another ingredient</li> </ul> The rest, you can decide about. Can you design and explain your drink mathematically? You could even try making it too!	Write your own version of the national anthem! Think carefully about the structure. You may wish to use a similar structure and tune to our national anthem. Will your song have a religious element? Are there any important things about life in the UK that should be mentioned? You could then add a music to the song using https://learningmusic.ableton.com/, an instrument of your choice or another music programme. Maybe you could record yourself performing it, or perform it to the class!	Produce a portrait of the Queen, using artistic materials of your choice. DARE TO BE DIFFERENT! You could do it in the style of some of the artists we have looked at this year. Maybe you could create a Tudor style portrait like Hans Holbein...!	Queen Elizabeth II is also the head of the commonwealth. Research the commonwealth. What is the commonwealth and which countries are in it? Mark them on a world map. You could also think of a way of presenting the countries that once were, but no longer are, part of the commonwealth.
Using your knowledge of biographical texts from earlier in Year 5 (when we wrote about Hatshepsut), write a biography about Queen Elizabeth II.	Create a graph showing how Queen Elizabeth II's reign compares to other English monarchs. You may want to focus on monarchs from the last 500 years, or maybe you could focus on comparing her reign to that of the Tudor monarchs.	F Science Create a poster, leaflet, poem or powerpoint about the life cycle of an animal of your choice. Remember to use scientific vocabulary. You could link this to the queen by researching and completing the life cycle of one of her favourite animals.	Create your own version of the coronation chair or the crown jewels. You could draw/paint them or use another medium like fabric, papier mache, wood...	Create a family tree for the current royal family. Think back to the work we did on the Tudor family tree. You could set it out in the same way. You may also wish to create a family tree for your own family!
